
❖ TAVCOM TRAINING ❖

Training Programme - 1997

Training, in this day of continual rapid technological change, is of paramount importance. It is equally the responsibility of individuals and companies to provide the very best service, especially in an industry such as CCTV where there are no distinct formal standards.

We at Tavcom Training are determined to provide, with the continual support and guidance from manufacturers, installers, consultants, governing bodies and associations, the platform to raise standards and introduce professional qualifications.
